Meet the Artist - Jason Lohmeier

www.jasonlohmeier.com

Born and raised in Arizona, Jason Lohmeier grew up scrambling across the quartz and granite of the Sonoran Desert. Through his desert experiences, Jason developed a love for Arizona and its environment and inhabitants.

Jason graduated from the University of Arizona in 2004 with a bachelors in Fine Art. After working 10 years in Art Education, he began to share his experiences on paper and canvas. The inspiration for his work is the land and the people and wildlife who reside there.

"I am inspired daily from anything western. You will find soldier, settler, cowboy, rancher, miner, lawman, gambler, mountain man, vaquero, warrior, and many other salty characters in my artwork. I will continue to explore the amazing west and I will be thrilled to have you hang my artwork in your home." – Jason

QUICK DRAW ART EXHIBIT

FEATURING THE ARTWORK OF JASON LOHMEIER

Arizonan artist Jason Lohmeier will be featured in a new exhibit at the Fort Lowell Museum on display from November 11th, 2016 through February 11, 2017. Jason's detailed western drawings and paintings offer a unique perspective into western life throughout the years and will be available for purchase.

Exhibit Opening Reception

Friday, November 11th, 2016

4:00 - 6:00pm

Exhibit on display November 11, 2016 - February 11, 2017

A portion of art work sales will go towards supporting the Arizona Historical Society, allowing us to collect and preserve artifacts of Arizona's colorful past, to create imaginative exhibits and entertaining public programs.

FORT LOWELL MUSEUM

ARIZONA HISTORICAL SOCIETY

2900 N. Craycroft Road | Tucson, AZ | (520) 885-3832