HISTORICAL NOTE

The Lazy B Cattle Ranch was founded in 1880 on the Arizona-New Mexico border southeast of Duncan, Arizona by Henry Clay ("H. C.") Day, Sandra Day O' Connor's paternal grandfather. Henry Clay Day came west to Pasadena, California after meeting and marrying Alice Edith Hilton in Wichita, Kansas. Day then took advantage of an opportunity he just could not refuse, bought a 300 square mile tract of land in the Arizona territory for a small sum and bought 6,000 head of Mexican cattle from the Terrazas ranch in northern Mexico. Those 6,000 cattle were branded with the Lazy B, which is one of the oldest Arizona brands in the continuous ownership of the same family. After discovering that his foremen were stealing cattle from him, Day decided to move his family to the ranch in order to look after the ranch himself.

In 1908, H. C. Day partnered the Lazy B Ranch with Sam and Walter Foster. H. C. died in 1921 after handing over the ownership of the Day property to his wife Alice Day to avoid complications. Alice, unfortunately followed her husband shortly after in 1926. Sam Foster turned over the settlement of the ranch to the Alice E. Day Estate, which led directly into the hands of Harry Day.

Henry ("Harry") Alfred Day was the fifth child born to H. C. and Alice on December 11, 1898. Harry came back to the ranch from attending college at Stanford University to find the ranch in serious legal and financial problems with the Foster brothers. The matter went to federal court and was eventually settled by giving the Foster brothers clear title to all the farmland. A new corporation, owned by the Day family, entitled Lazy B Cattle Company, handled the financial responsibilities of the old partnership.

In 1926, in buying from a cattle dealer named Willis Wilkey in El Paso, Texas, Harry Day met Wilkey's daughter Ada Mae and eloped with her after their courtship in 1927. The ranch at that time was quite rough living with on the newly married couple and whatever ranch hands lived on the property at the time. Three years after their marriage, Ada Mae gave birth to the first of the couple's three children, Sandra on March 26, 1930. Ann would follow a full eight years later in 1938 and Alan in 1939.

The Day family took advantage of summer breaks to go on long trips such as to Alaska, Mexico and every state capital west of the Mississippi, resulting in many vacation scrapbooks and photographs. During this time period the Lazy B Ranch did well despite involvement in a few legal disputes throughout the years.

Over its many years of operation, the Lazy B Ranch made quite a few innovations. Harry Day bought Hereford cattle to breed with the original Mexican cattle his father had bought. Alan then wanted to breed more exotic breeds of cattle with his father's Polled Hereford herd although Harry was against it. Alan won Harry over though with stock that were heavier and negotiated the rough ranch terrain better.

In the late 1970s, Alan Day took over the presidency of the Lazy B Ranch with Harry Day still taking an active part in business affairs. The company celebrated its centennial in 1980 with many friends from the Arizona and New Mexico ranching communities as well as all the members of the Arizona Cattle Growers Association in attendance. At the time of the centennial, the Lazy B Ranch was the oldest ranch in Arizona owned continuously by the same family. After many happy days in the cattle raising business, Harry Day passed away in 1984 and Ada Mae followed him five years later in 1989.

BIOGRAPHICAL NOTE

Sandra Day was born on March 26th, 1930 and would reach the age of eight before new siblings entered her life. For the first six years of her life, Sandra had little contact with other children yet became an accomplished 'cowboy', agile with a horse, rifle, branding iron and tractor. Due to the remote location of the ranch, schooling was not offered close enough for Sandra to attend from the ranch resulting in her attending private school in El Paso, Texas and living with her maternal grandmother, Maureen ("Mamie") Scott Wilkey.

An accelerated student, Sandra was accepted to Stanford University at the age of sixteen and received a law degree at twenty-two in June 1952. During her law studies at Stanford, Sandra worked on the Stanford Law Review. Doing research on an article led her to John Jay O'Connor III, a fellow law student also working on the Review who was a year behind Sandra in his studies. The couple dated for two years before marrying on December 20, 1952, a mere six months after Sandra's graduation from law school.

In June 1953, Sandra and John O'Connor left the United States for Frankfurt, Germany. John had been drafted into the army to work as a lawyer. Sandra found a job as a civilian lawyer for the Quartermaster Corps. The couple returned the United States in 1956 to settle in Phoenix, Arizona. Soon after the couple settled into the city, their first son, Scott Hampton O'Connor, was born in 1957. Sandra worked part-time throughout the births of her next two children, Brian in 1960 and Jay in 1962.

As a member of the Republican party, Sandra plunged into political work after the birth of her last child. She served in a variety of positions and in 1965 went back to work in the legal profession as state assistant attorney general on a part-time basis, which turned into a full-time job quickly. In 1966 Sandra was nominated to be an Arizona State senator by the Arizona Republican party. For Sandra, it was difficult to choose between her two loves, law and politics. In 1974, O'Connor ended her last legislative session to return to law. O'Connor ran for trial judge in the Maricopa County Supreme Court and won the election.

In July 1981, O'Connor was nominated to the United States Supreme Court by President Ronald Reagan. O'Connor would be the first woman to enter that distinguished profession and a furor arose over the landmark nomination. In September, O'Connor underwent three days of Senate confirmation hearings while protestors were stationed outside over the issue of abortion. Her opinions on abortion concerned many anti-abortion activists, yet O'Connor was deemed an appropriate candidate for the office and started the job on September 28th, 1981. O'Connor has since served as a Supreme Court judge and lives with her husband in Washington, D.C.

SCOPE AND CONTENT NOTE

The records in the Day Family Papers represent the papers compiled by a family and business for a century, 1885-1985. The papers were primarily assembled by Harry and Ada Mae Day as well as by Alan Day when he took over the Lazy B Ranch in the 1970s. The collection includes financial, legal papers and receipts as well as family documents such as family photographs, correspondence and articles in published materials relating to prominent members of the family. The records also document family travel. The collection was housed at the Lazy B Ranch until it was accessioned in 1999 by the Arizona Historical Society. The collection came in essentially two segments, boxes including Lazy B Ranch records and boxes holding documents concerning only the Day Family.

Subgroup 1. Lazy B Ranch

Series 1. Correspondence, 1928-1984. This series consists of correspondence not only to Lazy B Ranch employees but also carbon copies from the Lazy B Ranch, business cards and telephone messages concerning the everyday functioning of the ranch. Due to the familial nature of the business, much correspondence may appear personal at the outset yet refer to business and/or legal matters after one to two paragraphs. If correspondence refers to business and/or legal matters, the correspondence is filed in Lazy B Ranch Correspondence. If this is not the case, the correspondence will be located in Day Family Correspondence.

Series 2. Legal Papers, 1910-1933. This series consists of legal papers involving various estates, transcripts, transcripts of oral arguments, court orders, court complaints, deeds, and land leases. Harry Day and the Lazy B Ranch were involved in a number of legal disputes after the death of H. C. Day. Due to this, a number of court transcripts and court orders are included in this series.

Series 3. Financial Papers, 1905-1977. This series consists of a variety of financial papers having to do with the everyday functioning of the Lazy B Ranch. This includes correspondence, financial statements, expense lists, receipts and records from renovation and housing projects as well as vehicle overhauls and repair, deposit slips, bank statements and receipts, land office receipts, payroll ledger and receipts and property sale notices. This series also includes income tax papers from 1936-1959, a taxable income log, tax correspondence, tax notice slips, tax assessment list and income tax forms. Both Harry and Alan Day, administrators of the Lazy B Ranch scribbled handwritten notes concerning financial matters and these are also included.

Series 4. Receipts and Ledgers, 1934-1980. This series includes a great many receipts from an assortment of Lazy B Ranch expenses and are listed by month beginning with January 1956 through December 1980. Yearly receipts include typed lists of bank deposits from 1934 through 1979. Receipts for various projects and rental properties are included along with correspondence concerning those projects and properties. This series also contains ledgers of sundry analyses, cattle sales, disbursements, and check registers from the years 1976 through 1977.

Subgroup 2: W.W. Wilkey

This subgroup's papers are, by no means, complete and due to this, the various series within this subgroup contains various documents spanning a number of years.

Series 11. Correspondence, 1925-1965. This series consists of Willis W. Wilkey and his wife's, Maureen "Mamie" Scott Wilkey, personal and business correspondence.

Series 12. Legal Papers, 1912-1959. This series consists of various personal legal papers including, land contracts and deeds, a court summons, an affidavit, a homestead application and accompanying receipts and a real estate license belonging to Maureen Scott Wilkey. Again, the items in this series are not cohesive.

Series 13. Financial Papers, 1909-1958. The bulk of the documents in this series are tax receipts from various counties in the states of Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, and Florida. Other documents in this series are general land office receipts, insurance papers, stock certificates and various bank documents such as bank books and cancelled checks.

Series 14. Livestock Records, 1919-1935. This small series contains various chattel mortgages and one cattle purchase receipt arranged chronologically. These records show little of the large cattle ranch W. W. Wilkey once owned, which is a clue that these papers are incomplete.

Series 15. Published Material, 1944. This series contains a copy of the Guaranty of Home Loans pursuant to Section 501 of the Servicemen's Readjustment Act of 1944, Public Law 346, 78th Congress, 2nd Session.

Series 16. Photographs, n.d. This series contains four copies of one picture of an unknown young man and several undeveloped negatives of an unknown family with unknown dates.

Subgroup 3. Day Family

Series 17. Personal Papers, 1912-1983. The Harry Day Personal Papers make up the bulk of this series. Harry Day kept a separate folder in the Lazy B Ranch Records entitled "Harry Day Personal Mementos." This folder and its subsequent series includes a variety of personal papers such as correspondence, a pet vaccination record, various financial records such as a 1895 mortgage release, copies of jokes, poetry with an unknown author, speeches by his daughter Sandra Day O' Connor and various newspaper clippings. The rest of the series consist of two separate meeting minutes. One, minutes from a Taylor Grazing meeting and the second, minutes from a meeting of the Stanford Alumnae Association of which Sandra Day O' Connor was a member in 1979.

Series 18. Correspondence, 1891-1982. The bulk of this collection rests in the years 1981 and 1982 when the Sandra Day O' Connor was nominated and subsequently appointed to the Supreme Court. The Days received an onslaught of congratulatory mail due to these events. Another bulk year is 1925 when Harry Day's mother wrote him on a regular basis from California. The series is broken into incoming and outgoing mail and contains folders for Greeting cards received in 1982, birth and graduation announcements (note: photographs within birth announcements stayed in the announcement), and wedding invitations. Any newspaper clippings that were within the correspondence were copied onto acid-neutral paper and kept with the correspondence. A particularly fascinating document is the folder titled "Telegram." This telegram is from Harry Day to his sister Eleanor in California in which Harry tells Eleanor he has recently married a woman she has never met, Ada Mae.

Series 19. Diary, n.d. This series contains one anonymous child's diary contained on loose-leaf paper within a small 3-ring binder.

Series 20. Education, 1918-1985. This series contains ephemera belonging to Harry and Ada Mae Day. This includes Harry Day's high school graduation announcements and diploma, Ada Mae's 1923 University of Arizona yearbook, and elementary school calendar from 1984.

Series 21. Travel, 1954-1982. The bulk of this series consists of several blank postcards collected from Europe, Asia and the United States. The rest of the series includes two passports belonging to Harry Day, a map of the United States and visitor's pamphlet from Alaska.

Series 22. Financial Papers, 1916-1930. This series contains only a few financial documents including a 1916 bank book, a voucher for Sears merchandise from 1930, a small undated receipt and a few handwritten notes concerning financial matters.

Series 23. Ledgers, 1920-1972. The ledgers in this series are, like the financial papers, quite incomplete. The ledgers include one 1920 address book treated like a day planner, a household expense ledger from 1938, a taxable income ledger from 1966-1972 and two long distance telephone record books.

Series 24. Published Material, 1907-1985. The publications in this series cover a wide variety of subjects accumulated over a lifetime of reading and traveling by Harry and Ada Mae Day. Travel publications include the Oberamergau Passion Play from Oberamergau, Germany in 1922, a Rand McNalley Atlas, an undated Mark Twain Region guide, a book of San Francisco Etchings from 1965, various cruise books and event programs. Other publications concern ranch life and include a New Mexico Brand Book from 1934, a Copy of Arizona Climate 1964, a Land Forms Map of the Arizona-New Mexico Border Region, a book on the control of Arizona Rose Diseases, newsletters from various cattle raising associations, and cattle raising catalogues as well as a copy of Public Law 94-579 concerning the use of land in Arizona. Two maps are also included and have been moved to the main map collection. They are: Flip Low Altitude High Speed Training Route Chart of the Western United States from the Department of Defense, 1969 and a Geologic map of the Duncan and Canador Peak quadrangles in Arizona and New Mexico, dated 1965. A Master's thesis on the development of black grama in southern New Mexico would also apply to ranch interests. While several publications are listed above, the bulk of this series lies in with an extensive collection of popular magazines such as Time and People which cover the nomination of Sandra Day O' Connor to the United States Supreme Court by President Ronald Reagan in 1981. Magazines are arranged chronologically and most include one article or mention of Judge O' Connor. Other magazines are miscellaneous.

Series 25. Newspaper Clippings, 1934-1985. The newspaper clippings in this series cover a variety of topics yet the bulk lie in two date areas. The first are the years 1973 and 1974 which cover various actions Sandra Day O' Connor took in her Arizona State Senate position. The second significant bulk area is in 1981 with Sandra Day O' Connor's nomination to the Supreme Court.

Series 26. Photographs, 1885-1994. The photographs and few negatives in this series encompass four generations of the Day family.

Series 27. Scrapbooks, c. 1940s-c.1950s. This series contains loose pages of a scrapbook made for the occasion of Harry and Ada Mae Day's 50th Wedding Anniversary in 1977 and one scrapbook owned by Eleanor Day (Harry's sister) encompassing the years 1941 through 1950. Eleanor Day's Scrapbook, entitled Purple Patches, is a travel scrapbook with pictures from all over the continental United States.

Series 28. Memorabilia, 1959-1982. This series contains achievement certificates earned by Ada Mae Day such as one earned for flower arranging. This series also includes a Cowboy Hall of Fame certificate given to Harry Day, a 1982 Ranch Life Calendar and three sets of men's cufflinks. Two images, one, a silhouette printed in Germany and the other a drawing of a young boy by Bill Schumacher.

Series 29. Media, n.d. The media in this series includes a camera with film inside, a undeveloped film cartridge, two reels of sound recordings and a reel of video tape. It is unknown what is on this media or what time period they encompass.

NOTES TO RESEARCHERS

In order to stabilize the materials and preserve the information contained in this collection, newspaper clippings and items on deteriorating acidic paper are in the process of being photocopied onto acid-neutral paper and the originals will be recycled. Also, staples were removed and replaced with paper clips to preserve the documents' context. These paper-clipped documents are now protected by strips of acid-neutral paper. Photographs were placed in acid-neutral sleeves. When possible, provenance has been preserved.
