BIOGRAPHICAL NOTE: Harold Patrick Williams was born on October 5, 1947 in West Palm Beach, Florida. After graduating from Central High School in 1965, he worked as a junior draftsman at an architectural firm. Shortly after, he enlisted in the United States Navy in May 1966, in which he served as a pilot in Vietnam until 1972. Following his military service, Williams relocated to Phoenix, Arizona where he resumed his architectural career. He became a registered architect through experience and worked for firms including Jones Studio, Wyatt-Rhodes Architects, and others. In 1971, he married his wife, Clara. Williams became a member of the American Institute of Architects (AIA) in 1978 and established his own architectural firm in Scottsdale, Arizona that he ran until his death in 2020. Notably, Williams fought to save the Cine Capri Theatre in Phoenix, Arizona from demolition.

SCOPE AND CONTENT NOTE: This collection includes architectural drawings and materials created by architect Harold P. Williams during his career from 1970-2020, with the bulk spanning the 1980s. The drawings are of projects in Arizona, New Mexico, and Nevada.

Building types include aviation, commercial, residential, educational, medical, financial services, KPNX, large single family subdivisions, and Native American work.

This collection is arranged into two series: Series I. Architectural Drawings: Composed of original hand drawings, colored renderings, and sketches, organized numerically in ascending order by project number. Series II. General Files: Composed of professional documents and objects and published articles.

SUBJECT TERMS: Williams, Harold P.; Jones Studio; Wyatt-Rhodes Architects; Architects—Arizona; Architectural drawings; Residential architecture
