HISTORICAL NOTE:

Organized in 1928, the Arizona Public Health Association (AzPHA) is a non-profit, professional organization dedicated to public health in Arizona. Its mission: To promote and protect the public's health through education, advocacy and the support of health delivery programs. AzPHA provides a unifying voice that represents all persons and organizations whose primary interest is healthy communities. AzPHA is an affiliate in good standing with the American Public Health Association.

AzPHA is governed by a Board of Directors elected by the membership. The organization works through committees, resolutions/action plans, conferences, workshops, grants, community partnerships, and public forums. Educating policy makers, resource allocators, and voters is key to AzPHA's advocacy activities. Its many achievements include but are not limited to:

- Planning two educational conferences a year with national and state presenters
- Publishing resolutions, reports, and white papers, including Living and Dying in Arizona: A Profile of Arizona's People & Their Health Needs
- Educating policy and decision makers on public health issues
- Supporting grassroots efforts and community coalitions to advocate for public health legislation and policy
- Recognizing Arizona legislators, community leaders, citizens and health professionals for their contributions to public health

SCOPE AND CONTENT NOTE:

This collection is significant for documenting nearly 90 years of advocacy, public service, health analysis, statistical reporting, and programming to promote healthy communities in Arizona. AzPHA connects a wide spectrum of health providers, organizations, specialists, policy makers and analysts to collaborate on issues vital to public health ranging from aging and communicable disease to accidents and health insurance.

The legislative activities offer insights into how public policy evolves and how one organization reaches consensus for identifying health priorities when each issue represents a population at risk. This collection also documents how public health practitioners have developed and expanded their scope of practice and influence. The publications are remarkable for describing health needs specific to Arizona. The list covers every contemporary health crisis from AIDS to methamphetamine addiction and homelessness to water quality.

Arranged in seven series, alphabetically and chronologically within. Series I: Board – documents board functions, governance, relationships with other organizations, organizational goals and objectives. Series II: Financial – includes budgets and grant funding. Series III: Sections and Committees – organized around specific issues such as rural health, women and children, mental health, environmental health, public safety, health care coverage, and legislative advocacy. Series IV: Conferences – semi-annual educational programs featuring nationally recognized speakers on critical public health issues. Series V: Publications – newsletters; out-of-print, hard-to-find Arizona studies and programs on a wide spectrum of health issues ranging from mental health and drug use to elder care and health care reform. Series VI. Media – photographs of people and events; educational VHS cassettes and DVDs. Series VII: Memorabilia – samples of health assessment tools, equipment, and materials used by members of the AzPHA.
