HISTORICAL/BIOGRAPHICAL NOTE

The history of the various Levy stores is also the story of two generations of Levy family members in southern Arizona. The first Levy store was opened in Douglas Arizona by Jacob Levy and his wife Mamie in February 1903 and was known as the Red Star General Store. Throughout the next 70 years the commercial activities involving the Levy family members involved additional stores, changing locations, and new store names. By 1912 Jacob’s brother Ben Levy had joined the family business in Douglas and the firm became the Levy Brothers Dry Goods Company with each brother owning 50% of the stock.

Business prospered with a second store opening in Douglas known as the El Pasco Store in 1919 and later in 1925 the company opened yet another store in Bisbee Arizona known as the Fair Store. A significant milestone came in the 1928-1930 period when a decision was made by the family to expand operations to Tucson Arizona. In 1931 they bought out Myers and Bloom Men’s Store in downtown Tucson and expanded and added additional departments. By 1935 the family split their department store interests with Ben Levy and his two sons remaining in Douglas and operating the southern Arizona establishments and Jacob Levy and his two sons (Aaron and Leon) moving to Tucson and taking over the division there. The Douglas and Bisbee stores still maintained the title Levy Brothers Dry Goods Store and the Tucson store became Levy’s (also known as Levy’s of Tucson and Levy Brothers Clothing Store). In 1946 Jacob Levy died and his oldest son, Aaron, became president and Leon Levy was appointed Treasurer. One year previous Ben Levy passed away and his sons took over direction of the Douglas and Bisbee stores.

With continued good business a new Levy’s store was built in 1950 at the corner of Scott and Pennington Streets in Tucson. The store was three times as large as the original store on Congress and Scott and was considered one of the most modern department stores between Dallas and Los Angeles. In 1955 a further expansion added over 15,000 square feet and further modernized the store. When Aaron died in April 1958 Leon became president of the operation. In 1960 Levy’s became part of the Federated Department Stores, Inc. the largest group of conventional department stores in the United States with Leon remaining as Chairman of the Board for Levy’s. Ultimately a decision was made to move the Levy Brothers Clothing Store from the downtown Tucson location to a new facility at El Con Mall. In September 1969 the grand opening of the new facility took place featuring over 76,000 square feet of commercial space making it the largest single store building in the state. In 1973 Leon Levy retired from operations with Levy’s and Federated Department Stores.

Born in 1913 in Douglas, AZ Leon Levy attended local schools including the University of Arizona where he was a member of the college football team. After college in 1934 he joined the family business. During 1943-1945 he served in the Navy and received training at the Naval Indoctrination Training Program on the campus of the University of Arizona in 1944-1945. In addition to work as Levy store treasurer, and later president, & chairman of the board he maintained involvement with many Tucson and Arizona organizations and activities. Through the years Levy had a strong concern and association with higher education and the University of Arizona in particular. He served on the Arizona Board of Regents from 1960-1968 and became its chairman in 1968. Levy served on many University of Arizona committees, contributed to numerous University programs, and headed the successful fund drive for building the Cancer Research Center in 1984. Levy worked with three banking institutions serving on the boards of First National, First Interstate, and Southern Arizona Banks. He was a founding member of the Tucson Conquistadors and a trustee and committee chairman for the Arizona-Sonora Desert Museum. Levy received many community and institution awards including an honorary degree as Doctor of Laws from the University of Arizona in 1978 and being named Tucson’s Man of the Year for 1984. Levy died on December 27, 1984 near the completion of his work for the Arizona Cancer Center.

SCOPE AND CONTENT NOTE

The Leon Levy Collection contains manuscript and photographs associated with the Levy family history and the various Levy stores in Douglas and Tucson, Arizona. Manuscript materials include extensive personal correspondence to and from Leon Levy, ledger books with business investments and expenditures, newspaper clippings, legal documents, stockholder and board of director meeting notes, and financial statements. Photographs depict three generations of Levy family members as well as images of the Levy stores in Douglas, Bisbee, and Tucson Arizona.

Additional materials outside the Levy department stores center on community activities of Leon Levy. Financial organizations for which Levy participated in include the First National, First Interstate, and Southern Arizona Banks. Correspondence during the 1960s highlights Levy’s activities with the Arizona Board of Regents and work with the University of Arizona. Nine folders document the fund raising activities for the University of Arizona Cancer Research Center for which Levy was chairman. Committee work, board of trustee meetings, by-laws, and publications are present for the Arizona-Sonora Desert Museum for which Levy was a trustee. Additional organizations represented in the collection include the Tucson Conquistadors, American Atomics Corporation, and The Southern Arizona International Livestock Association. The collection has been divided into 5 series to aid research and organization.

Series 1 consists of background information on Levy family members especially Jacob and Mamie Levy commencing with their arrival in Douglas, AZ in 1903 and establishment of the Red Star General Store. Estate and trust papers are present on both Jacob and Mamie Levy including settlement papers, court rulings, and estate tax documents for the period 1946-1950. Marjorie Levy’s schoolbook and a medical folder are present.

Series 2 entails materials representing Leon Levy’s early life reflecting school materials from Douglas High School and the University of Arizona as well as personal awards and correspondence. Three folders contain materials related to Levy’s time with the Navy and the Naval Indoctrination Training School at the University of Arizona in 1944-1945. Additional materials cover travel by the Levys to Europe, Japan, California, Chicago, a European cruise, and Mexico. Personal awards, speeches, life insurance programs, and Leon Levy’s personal correspondence with customers, organizations supported and family members are present from 1937 to 1984. Although much of this correspondence may be with individuals representing companies and organizations it generally entails personal friendship topics rather than business matters. Ten folders of personal correspondence are present between Leon and Marjorie for the period just prior to their wedding and while Leon was in the Navy during World War II.

Series 3 contains manuscript materials associated with the Levy stores in Douglas & Tucson and Leon Levy’s role as company treasurer and president. Store operations and records have been broken down into four subseries reflecting the different stores and their historical periods. General Levy store histories, newspaper clipping of store events, and Levy worker biography are entailed in the first subseries. The second subseries covers materials associated with the early years of the Red Star and Levy Brothers Dry Goods Store in Douglas and Bisbee, 1911-1960. Materials associated with the new store in Tucson managed by Jacob Levy and his two sons Leon and Aaron are highlighted in subseries C. The last subseries covers the period after 1960 when Levy’s became associated with Federated Department Stores, Inc. (1960-1984). Highlights for this section include the building of the new Levy’s store at El Con Mall in 1969 along with the planning and publicity for its opening.

Series 4 depicts additional organizations with which Leon Levy worked or was associated with both at the time he work with Levy’s and after 1973 and his retirement. Covered here include subseries reflecting his work with the Arizona Board of Regents and higher Series 5 contains photographs of Leon Levy and Levy family members. Images include Leon as a child and young man, Leon and Marjorie with their children, in football uniform for the University of Arizona and Leon at various golfing tournaments. Additional images show Marjorie Levy in her wedding dress, with their children, and Simon family relatives. Leon’s parents, Jacob and Mamie Levy, are represented in portraits and family scenes. Leon and Marjorie Levy’s children, Michel and Mary are shown as young people in home settings.

Additional photographs highlight the various Levy stores both in Douglas and Tucson. Two folders show 46 color images of various departments of the new Levy’s store at El Con Mall just prior to its opening in September 1969. Several images feature ground breaking ceremonies for the start of construction on Levy stores. Oversized portraits show both Levy family and Simon family members. Super oversized images depicting Levy store exterior and interior images (stored in the basement). These images were displayed in Levy stores.
