BIOGRAPHICAL NOTE

Katie Hughes Jacome was one of seven daughters of Teresa and Jesus Hughes. She was one of the three sisters who married into prominent Tucson families. Katie (born Catalina) married Arthur Jacome; son of Carlos Jacome, who founded Jacome Department Store in Tucson in 1896. Arthur worked for the store until it closed in 1980. Alyce married Fred Manzo. Fred was the son of Genaro Manzo, Carlos Jacome's former partner and long time employee of Jacome Department Store. Frances married Henry "Dutch" Winter, grandson of Judge Charles H. Meyer. Judge Meyer was a justice of the peace during Arizona's territorial days and owned the first drugstore in Tucson in 1856. Of the other Hughes sisters, Susie [Mendoza] and Teresa [O'Keefe] married and had children. We have no information about the remaining two sisters.

SCOPE AND CONTENT NOTE

The papers of Katie Hughes Jacome consist primarily of photographs but also includes financial and personal papers. The documents include promissory notes, bills of sale, mortgages, contracts and newspaper clippings about the family. The photographs are of family and friends and include travel to Mexico.

Series 1: Financial and Personal Papers, 1890-1952, arranged by subject.

Series 2: Photographs and family photo albums, approximately 1915 to 1925.
