PC 243*William P. Hazard Collection
1959 - 1965*DESCRIPTION

This small collection consists of images associated with William P. Hazard. Unfortunately few of the images have identifications and therefore much of the significance has been lost. Photographs include images of buildings, some under construction, that Hazard may have designed. Two folders show a home although again it is unclear if this is Hazard's home or a home that he may have worked on. Folder #1 contains images of Robert Reid and William Hazard in an office setting. One of these images was used for a 1959 article in the Tucson Daily Citizen announcing the formation of their partnership.

1 Box, .5 linear ft.

BIOGRAPHICAL NOTE

William P. Hazard came to Tucson Arizona in 1942 and worked with Consolidated Aircraft Company. He became licensed as an architect in 1949 and worked with Scholer, Sakellar and Faller and later with Terry Atkinson. In 1959 Hazard formed a partnership with Robert R. Reid. First listing of Reid & Hazard Architectural Firm appears in the 1964 city directory and disappears by 1967. Hazard worked on various building constructions around Tucson including the Clam Building, additions to Mansfield Jr. High School, the University of Arizona Environmental Research Laboratory, the polar bear habitat at Reid Park, and additions to the Arizona Historical Society on 2nd Street. He retired from architectural work in 1975 and died in 1992.
