BIOGRAPHICAL NOTE: Ross Santee was an author and artist noted for his depictions of the Southwest. He was born in Thornburg, Iowa in 1889. He had an interest in art throughout his childhood and after graduating from high school he attended the Chicago Art Institute from 1907-1912. After he left the Art Institute he spent an unsuccessful year in New York City trying to get his artwork published. After year of rejection notices, he burned his art supplies and moved to Arizona to live with his mother and sister. While in Arizona he found work on a ranch wrangling horses. Despite his experiences in New York, Ross resumed sketching while working on the ranch. In 1920, with the encouragement of friends and local publishers, Ross returned to New York City. This time the publishers were not only interested in his drawings but were also interested in his experiences as a cowboy. They convinced him to pen short stories based on his time on the ranch.

Over the next five decades he wrote thirteen books, dozens of short stories and made thousands of sketches. In 1926 he married Eve Farrell and soon after built a home and studio in Arden, Delaware to be near her family, although they still spent part of the year in Arizona. The Arden house remained Ross' primary residence until the death of his wife in 1963. After Eve died Ross returned to Arizona and dedicated his time to studying oil painting with his friend Ted DeGrazia. In 1965 Ross was hospitalized after a heart attack and died shortly after. His ashes were scattered along a highway near Globe, Arizona.

SCOPE AND CONTENT NOTE: This collection consists primarily of manuscripts and artwork created by Ross Santee. Perhaps the most significant part of the collection is the gathering of several hundred works – much of it unpublished. In addition to the many examples of his iconic gestural sketches and etchings, there are also unusual pieces in different mediums including pencils, charcoal, and oil painting. The condition of the artwork ranges from poor to excellent. Each piece is encapsulated in Mylar.

There have been several attempts to organize this collection therefore original order is unknown. Some materials (now reunited) may have been previously separated for exhibit purposes. Correspondence within the collection suggests that the donors and Santee's editor made efforts to locate and identify sources of materials after the artist's death.

N.B. The marginalia found in much of the correspondence is not in Santee's own hand and is unknown.

Arranged in eight Series:

Series I: Biographical - Contains information on Santee and his works, as well as information about several of his associates.

Series II: Correspondence - Organized alphabetically. This section also contains correspondence from the donors after Santee's death.

Series V: Photos - Includes images of friends and family as well as photographs of artwork and images of the Southwest.

Series VI: Artwork - Pen and ink sketches, watercolor paintings, and etchings by Santee as well as artwork gifted to him by other artists. The artworks are organized by medium and then alphabetically within.
