BIOGRAPHICAL NOTE

Lemuel Coover Shattuck was born in 1866 in northwestern Pennsylvania. At the age of sixteen, he came to southeastern Arizona to work as a cowboy for his two half-brothers, who had established the Erie Cattle Company in the Sulfur Spring Valley north of present – day Douglas. Four years later, Shattuck left the cattle company to find work in various mining camps including Tombstone, Mammoth, Globe and finally Bisbee, where he married and started a lumberyard. Within a few years he had opened a bar and acquired a franchise from the Anheuser-Busch Brewing Association. Shattuck later founded several mining companies, the Shattuck-Denn being the best known. He also developed the famous El Tigre mine in Sonora and started a cotton industry in Winterhaven, California. Shattuck died in Bisbee on September 7, 1938.

SCOPE AND CONTENT NOTE

The bulk of the collection deals with the business interest of Shattuck: Mining in Arizona and Sonora, banking in Bisbee and cotton farming in the Imperial Valley of California. There is also a great deal of family correspondence and some genealogical data. Two important events in Shattuck's life are not covered in detail. One is the operation of El Tigre Mine in Sonora. The other is the famous "Bisbee Deportation" and attending labor unrest in Bisbee during the First World War. The absence of material on the Bisbee Deportation – if it ever existed- suggests that the information was purged from the collection prior to its acquisition by the Arizona Historical Society.

SERIES NOTES

Series One, Correspondence (1874-1950), contains incoming and outgoing correspondence covering a wide range of topics. Shattuck frequently mixed business with personal correspondence, making it impossible to separate the two. Many of the personal letters to old friends contain brief, but significant glimpses into life in Cochise County at the turn of the century. Some letters also contain brief mention of the Bisbee Deportation. Significant correspondents included Thomas P. Bardon (business associate), Archibald Chisholm (business associate), W.W. Douglas (business associate), Wiley Fitzgerald (business associate and personal friend), Grenfell Family (relatives), Keating Family (relatives), William Lutley (business associate and personal friend), Thomas O. McGrath (business associate), Shattuck Family and correspondence regarding the Cochise Development Company, The Seventy Nine Mine, the Shattuck-Denn Mining Corporation, The Winterhaven Commercial Company and the Winterhaven Townsite Company. 28 boxes (14 linear ft.) arranged alphabetically.

Series Two, Corporate Records (1898-1928), contains a variety of business material dealing with the Cochise Copper Mining Company, the Cochise Development Company, The Denn-Arizona Copper Company, the Denn-Arizona Development Company, the Shattuck-

Series Three, Shattuck Farm Expenses (1914-1938), contains detailed information regarding expenses of the Shattuck farming operation in the Imperial Valley as submitted by the manager Wiley P. Fitzgerald. 1 box (.5 linear ft.) arranged chronologically.
